So, I have already figured out how to run a training contract "mysimplecounter" in the test network Pulsar-2 from the terminal. New task: how to make the execution of this contract at the click of a button on the website? What is better to use for backend/frontend?