Hi everybody,

this is my very first proposal here. It is strictly focused on the utility of deposited $AAVE into the protocol.

What about to use AAVE tokens and make them aAAVE which could bear an interest? In the background it could be done in a way that aAAVE would be deposited to a staking contract which could earn a nice profit from staking.

I don't know if this could work well however, i think we should focus on the utility of AAVE. If we could do this, then it will be like 0% borrow money cause profit from staking will cover all borrow costs.