Hey ya,

I'm a user of Lido and stoked to have an easy UX with which to help secure ETH2.0 and make a bit of return on my ETH.

Something I'm struggling with at the moment is figuring out by what degree has my ETH grown since staking it in Lido.

My favourite UX in space is Compound and how it shows exactly how much collateral has been earned to date and how much COMP has been earned to date.

Is there something available for stETH that does something similar? An easy way to figure out how much ETH has been earned by my deposited ETH.

I understand that stETH rebases, I assume that means the balance of stETH increases over time in proportion to eth staking rewards, would it be as simple as comparing how much stETH I got when I deposited my ETH and how much I stETH I have now?

Thanks