Hey there everyone, i have been seeing allot of people having struggle with talking or understanding english.

My idea was to create an tool for discourse where we would have a button to translate the AIP idea or whatever it its written there.

I dont have the knowledge needed to create such a tool but i think this should a thing that should be looked into, since such an simple thing can make 99% more easy to use and undertand discourse for people that have another language.

If anynone haves any idea or sugestion make sure to say it!!!
