Greetings y'all.

I apologies for these novice questions, however, if you look at my activity you will see I am DMOR (doing my own research).

When I first entered the Secret community I noticed a post stating…"I had to teach this person Linux."

If I had to refresh/learn a computer language - which one should it be? Rust, C++, Linux, …?

I don't mean to bother the community with these questions, but searching through the node, validator, etc. information can be overwhelming.

Thank you for your time, attention, and swift response to this matter.

PS. I always wanted to learn Linux
