I propose to add a trigger to the swap functionality. This would allow spot traders to set a threshold to move in or out of different assets based on whatever margin they are comfortable trading at.