I used the googlefinance function in google sheets to get this. There were only 9 companies on the list that didn't return results. There are probably some cases where the match is wrong, but they're likely few enough not to matter for my use.