I like it but how do we do it?

Suppose you predict on 500 Japanese stocks only. How should we score you vs someone who predicted on all 5000 stocks? 500 predictions is less valuable to us but still valuable but if someone is predicting whole universe it feels like they should be able to earn more which is why we fill with 0.5s any missing stocks and score you both the same.