I want to tinker with the idea of limiting delegates voting power to avoid centralization and promote new delegate inclusion and more diverse forum activity. To avoid redelegation apathy from token holders this could be a Delegate activity instead.

Simple example:

Delegate voting cap: 500.000 OP

This means "Linda Xie", who has 2,071,535 OP delegated, can redelegate 1,571,535 to uncapped delegates.

This can be easily implemented on this tool:

- https://optimism.showkarma.xyz/

And even set up a forum email inviting caped delegates to redelegate the excedent of their voting power.

Does this sound like a good or terrible idea?