Some of us are waiting for more info before building a node for testnet. How much time can we expect to get between testnet date announcement and testnet launch?