A proposal to top up the LEGO wallet with 300,000 LDO (approx. 600,000 USD), needed for covering expenses related to bug bounties, event coordination, and more. The LEGO treasury wallet is currently near empty, blocking the funding of a number of important initiatives.

As always, no funds will be spent without further proposals + voting, but a refill is needed to act as a buffer and to allow LEGO to function as intended.

Allocation of LEGO Treasury Funds

Since the beginning of 2022, LEGO treasury funds have been spent on a number of initiatives including:

- Increasing the scope of the LEGO Council and Committee, providing more individuals with a personal LEGO allocation.

- The previously ended Rabbithole campaign, which helped drive more than 4% of all time stETH deposit addresses.

- Bug bounties.

The proposal to allocate more funds to the LEGO treasury will work to fund a number of initiatives, including:

- Audits (e.g. Lido-on-X) (approximately $300,000 needed).

- DevConnect event presence (approximately $100,000 needed).

- Bounties via ImmuneFi (approximately $200,000 needed).

In case of questions or concerns, please share your feedback in the comments below. A 7-day Snapshot vote will follow, after which (pending successful vote) funds will be distributed to the LEGO Multisig.
