This is my third time trying to get into Numerai Turnament.

Granted, the first time I knew too little about ML and python.

The second time, I still did not know enough about ML.

And now I did some kaggle and actually know how enough to get around a little.

I watched all the videos and find them so extremely accessible. Peter is doing a great job explaining the concepts of the numerai and explains some good techniques on how to handle the data.

There are other videos out there, like from the numerai team itself. But they all are fragmented into these office hours and what not.

So as a person who is trying to get into Numerai, I think it would be a great Idea to fund him to keep making these videos.
