Is it possible for validators in a PoS network to hide their IP addresses without causing issues?