I was digging into yahoo finance this week and I believe they have all the data you speak of. They are also free. They have a python library, which I like. Thanks for sharing.