I've tried digging around and all I could find are blog posts and articles in media, but couldn't find any actual products.

- does Enigma mainnet exist? does it handle real transactions? does it have a wallet?

- are there any deployed contracts with real activity? I've seen a few mentions of Salad and other services, but looks like everything is only on paper at the moment