Support

If you need assistance while exploring the Filecoin virtual machine, you can reach out to the team and community using the links on this page.

Slack

Like many other distributed teams, the FVM team works mostly on Slack. You can join the Filecoin Project Slack for free by going to filecoin.io/slack . The FVM team hangs out in the following channels:

- #fil-builders
- for building solutions on FVM and Filecoin
- #fil-fvm-dev
- for development of the FVM
- #fvm-docs
- for FVM documentation

Forum

If you just need a general pointer or looking for technical FAQs, you can head over to the FVM GitHub Discussion tab .

Developer grants

The Filecoin Grant Platform connects grant makers with builders and researchers in the Filecoin community. Whether you represent a foundation that wants to move the space forward, a company looking to accelerate development on the features your application needs, or a developer team itching to hack on the FVM, take a look at the supported grant types and available opportunities →
