Nice going there!, you can also use for example the webhook from numerai instead of timed triggers so your pipeline will start after the new data is available. I am wondering though if you are in any way limited with the free tier at the moment with the V4 dataset? I can imagine that when using a lot of features of the V4 and also neutralization for example you will run into memory problems.